An Esports Business Conference will be included in the Festival, in which renowned industry leaders will discuss state-of-art developments in the Esports Industry. Female esports athletes and famous social media streamers will also participate on panel discussions to raise awareness and find solutions to the challenges they face in a male-dominated industry.

Competitive All-Girl Teams from various countries and regions around the world were invited to compete on two major Esports titles: League of Legends and CS:GO. The general public of any age can join us at Studio City Macau to watch the competition unfold for FREE, upon first registering on the event website.

Other activities for the visitors also include a Clash Royale Tournament open to all genders (show up and play), a Cosplay Showcase, and Meet & Greet sessions with the invited esports teams and other social media personalities.
